5. "Mushroom Cultivation workshop" This was organized by Department of Biotechnology to make aware our students about one of the emerging businesses

The department of biotechnology had undertaken a project on Mushroom Cultivation (Oyster Mushroom) planned and executed by Ms. Jaskirat Kaur Faculty of Biotech. Department, supported by Dr. Prof. Reetinder Joshi.

Inauguration on 16th March 2023:- Project was inaugurated on 16th March 2023 by delivery an introduction lecture by Mr. Vipesh Kumar from horticulture department and Mrs. Jaskirat Kaur in which basics of Mushroom and its cultivation protocols were discussed with the students of Biotech and farmer's club.

Purchase of Seeds: - On 15th March 2023 Dr. Reetinder Joshi along Ms. Nishtha Tripathi visited Solan Seeds for oyster mushroom and to purchase the seeds for oyster mushroom and to cultivate.

Practical session- I :- On 17th March, 23 Ms. Jaskirat Kaur faculty of Biotechnology Department took the practical session in Lab, in which student of B.Sc. Biotech 1, 2 & 3 participated.

a) Preparation of substrate.

1. Soaking of wheat straw overnight in clean water
2. Sterilization of substrate
3. Drying & checking its moisture content.

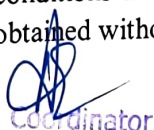

b) Incubation of substrate with spawns

1. Preparation of Poly bags and bottle.
2. Filling of ready substrate by laying method.
3. Incubation by spawns of oyster mushroom (white).
4. Packing it properly by keeping all the precautions.

c) Incubation

1. All the batches were incubated at required temperature and moisture.
2. Maintained all the conditions for propagation of mycelium for at least 15 days.

Practical session- II :- On 18th March, 2023 under the supervision of Ms. Jaskirat Kaur Faculty of biotechnology, students prepared and incubated more batches of substrate keeping all conditions in mind like temp. Moisture, hygiene, So that good harvest of mushroom can be obtained without contaminates.
